Leading the Way

We are proud of the extraordinary care St. Mary's gives every child and young adult who lives here — and of the dedicated employees who provide it. This level of complex, around-the-clock care requires hard work, passion and commitment every day. The Home recently awarded service pins to 168 employees who have worked at St. Mary's from two years to more than 40. That includes 22 people who have more than 20 years of service, led by Gladys Jones (shown on page 3), a certified nursing assistant who has been at St. Mary's for an amazing 42 years. Thank you to Gladys and all of our staff who continue to make St. Mary's a special place for special children. ♥

Hundreds Turn Out for 5K

Runners, walkers and wheelchair athletes who hit the pavement at Fort Story on Saturday, Oct. 4, were joined by some of the people they were racing for: children and young adults from St. Mary's Home for Disabled Children. More than 300 athletes and volunteers took part in St. Mary's 20th Annual 5K, plus One-Mile Fun Run.

The event raised more than $15,000 to support the programs and services of St. Mary's Home. St. Mary's children traditionally have taken part in the Fun Run but they participated in the 5K for the first time this year. Team Hoyt VB — a local offshoot of a national father-and-son team that competes in athletic events — pushed some St. Mary's residents in jogger strollers, plus children and adults with disabilities from the community.

Also new to the 5K this year was a wheelchair division, started by Kelsie Kellen, a 13-year-old, internationally ranked wheelchair athlete

St. Mary's Children Enjoy Renovated Playground, Gardens

Amelia had never experienced the simple childhood pleasure of swaying back and forth on a swing. Now she and other children at St. Mary's can play on specially designed equipment and have more fun exploring the outdoors because of the efforts of parents, garden clubs and other organizations to transform the Home's grounds — a $65,000 project paid for by donations.

Families and staff who wanted to make St. Mary's playground more functional for residents sold raffle tickets to raise $1,600 to begin revamping the playground. That jump-started other renovations, including newly designed areas featuring flowering plants and trees, walkways and sensory and butterfly gardens.

The playground courtyard has been re-installed with shade structures and equipment including a Sway Fun. The Make-A-Wish Foundation of Eastern Virginia provided the glider, which accommodates two children in wheelchairs and several friends and gently rocks them back and forth.

"My daughter has never been able to sit on a swing set because of her lack of head control," said Amelia's mother, Myra Perdue, who spearheaded the raffle and spoke at a Sept. 7 dedication of the grounds. "This is the first time in her life — and she's 15 — that she can be on any type of swing. ... She can just sit back and enjoy life."

Other donors making the playground renovation possible included Ronald McDonald House Charities, the Chartway Federal Credit Union's We Promise Foundation and the Virginia Beach Foundation, while the Virginia Beach Garden Club, Junior Virginia Beach Garden Club and Harborfront Garden Club have enhanced the landscaping in the gardens and courtyards. ♥

“Superman” Quality of Life Grant Helps Keep St. Mary's Residents Healthy, Comfortable

The Christopher and Dana Reeve Foundation is helping St. Mary's Home for Disabled Children use the latest technology to keep the children and young adults who live here healthy, safe and comfortable.

St. Mary's recently received an $11,360 Quality of Life grant — one of about 100 grants totaling almost $800,000 the Reeve Foundation awarded to nonprofit organizations nationwide. The grant paid for the computerized FSA 4D Complete Rehab Pressure Mapping Seating System.

Sitting or lying down in one spot for too long can cause skin pressure problems. Because most of St. Mary's residents can't speak for themselves, therapists have to find the pressure points. The pressure mapping system helps remove the guesswork by providing objective information. A thin blue mat is placed beneath a resident. Sensors in the mat collect data that is transmitted to a computer; trouble spots show up in red and yellow and orange on the computer screen, much like a weather radar screen.

Suzanne Eason, St. Mary's supervisor of occupational therapy support services, plans to use the system on all residents, both in their wheelchairs and in their beds. She's already checked out four residents and said she found potential pressure problem areas she could not have anticipated without the system. “It tells me how to change their wheelchairs so they will be more comfortable and not be at risk for pressure problems,” Eason said. ♥

Race winners received special prizes: artwork created by St. Mary's residents. "My first place (in my age group) picture is hanging proudly on the wall," runner Hallie Trout wrote in an email. "Thanks again for a great day and we'll see you next year!" ♥

From the Old St. Mary's to the New: Moving "Seat of Wisdom"

Fine arts conservator Andrew Baxter was a little nervous when he was asked to move the sculpture Sedes Sapientia (Latin for "Seat of Wisdom") from the old St. Mary's Home in downtown Norfolk to the current building. "With stone, you never know," Baxter recalled during a recent presentation at St. Mary's. "It could crumble and break into several pieces."

Baxter and his crew drilled and chiseled to remove the statue from its base, transported it by flatbed truck and used a forklift to place it at the new Home — a process that took about five days. The statue, sculpted by Jozsef Orolya, remained in one piece. Today, the statue stands watch in the newly landscaped Statuary Garden, facing the full-length glass doors to the Early Intervention Program classroom.

Two years later, Baxter was pleased to find the statue still in great shape. "It was very meaningful for me to work on this," said Baxter, founder of Richmond-based Bronze et al, Ltd., which has conserved and restored works at The White House, The Chrysler Museum of Art in Norfolk and Montpelier, the home of President James Madison.

"It's been a blessing to have the sculpture here," William C. Giermak, St. Mary's CEO, told Baxter. "I'm so glad we did it. It adds so much to our campus." ♥

St. Mary's Home Serves, Served By, The Military

Navy sailor Sarah Valanidas was driving home one day when she spied St. Mary's Home for Disabled Children from the highway. She knew immediately that she had to volunteer here because the Home made her think of Jocelyn, the daughter of her best friend's brother. Valanidas used to babysit for Jocelyn, who has severe disabilities.

Valanidas began coming to St. Mary's Home this summer after her job fixing aircraft components aboard the aircraft carrier USS Enterprise. "I always have a lot of fun when I come here," Valanidas said. "The Home is a happy place."

Valanidas also is taking college courses and working on her helicopter pilot's license, and she's thinking about pursuing a career in special education when her four-year enlistment ends in about two years.

Also along the volunteer front, about 25 sailors from the aircraft carrier USS Dwight D. Eisenhower came out to the Home for a day of volunteering this August, doing everything from cleaning windows to mulching the grounds. A handful of sailors from another Norfolk-based carrier, USS Harry S. Truman, volunteered as course marshals and water-station attendants during St. Mary's 5K fundraiser on Oct. 4.

While military members like Valanidas serve St. Mary's, the Home has proudly served military families for years through the U.S. Armed Forces Exceptional Family Member Program. Since the 1980s, 43 military families have relied on St. Mary's for the care of their children with disabilities. ♥

Message from the Auxiliary Board: Ambulette Makes Doctors' Visits Easier

St. Mary's Auxiliary Board recently donated $32,890 to St. Mary's Home for the purchase of a second ambulette used to drive children and young adults to their doctors' visits and other appointments and activities in the community. The residents regularly see doctors at the Home; however, procedures or examinations often require transporting the children to the physicians' offices. The ambulette accommodates the older, larger children and young adults.

The Auxiliary Board also donated $700 for a special stroller, $5,200 for an electric Hoyer lift to help transfer residents between their beds and wheelchairs and agreed to provide up to $3,000 to purchase a laptop computer for the Recreation Therapy department. Residents will be able to use the computer for independent leisure, such as playing games.

The Auxiliary Board is now preparing for its 4th annual gala and auction, to be held February 20 at The Westin Town Center in Virginia Beach. The last event drew nearly 300 people in February 2008 and raised more than $80,000 for the Home. The Board wants to thank those individuals and businesses who have already offered their support of the 2009 event. We are looking forward to sharing this enjoyable evening with you and we hope you plan to join us.

For more information, including sponsorship opportunities, or to donate items for the auction, please visit St. Mary's website, www.saintmaryshome.org. ♥

FROM THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Message from the President: Your Support is Vital

*We approach the year's end with gratitude to the staff and families at St. Mary's who provide the care and attention each child and young person needs and deserves every day. They could not accomplish all that they have, though, without the support of so many individuals, corporations, foundations and municipalities who have stepped up to the plate, even in these difficult economic times. ## In the Spotlight: Kilduff Strengthens St. Mary's Mission

Greg Kilduff joined the Board of Trustees in the early 80s and since then has shared his knowledge and experiences from the financial world to strengthen St. Mary's mission to care for children and young adults with disabilities using best practices and procedures. After retiring from a career in banking, Kilduff began working in the human services field, first as president of then Family Services of Tidewater, and then for about four months in 2004 as interim CEO for St. Mary's, where he became a mentor to staff as the organization continued to develop physically and professionally.

"On behalf of families and children with very serious health problems, St. Mary's offers hope and care which is otherwise unavailable," Kilduff said. "The Home's professional staff is remarkable for their individual concern — everyone knows each child by name — and for their professional competence. Personally, my association with St. Mary's, its staff and distinguished board members has been a wonderful 25-year adventure."

While Kilduff's tenure as interim CEO was brief, his impact has been lasting, said Susan Kok, St. Mary's director of staff development. "His gentlemanly, compassionate manner and approachability were instrumental in maintaining a productive and happy St. Mary's working environment," she said. "We are most grateful for the opportunity we had to serve under Mr. Kilduff, and for his continued support of our facility, our children and young adults and staff." ♥
