As the hands of time mark progress, our hands mark it as well. With caring enough to support a child whose steps are not strong. Gentleness enough to soften daily disappointments. Kindness, to ease a restless mind to sleep. These are hands of strength and skill. They guide. Teach. Comfort and provide. And when they are clasped, warmly, around younger hands, they do the best work of all. Because it is in the exchange of energy that we see results. In the sharing, between parent and child, child and child, child and staff. The power of touch. The power to hold. These are our tools. And with them, we make a connection that's stronger and more enduring than time itself.

St. Mary's Home for Disabled Children | 2010 Annual Report

Celebrating St. Mary’s past, present and future

The year 2010 brought several reasons to celebrate St. Mary’s past and present, and to look forward to our future. We commemorated 65 years of caring for children in Virginia. And we celebrated five rewarding years in our current facility, which opened in large part because of those in the community, like you, who have generously given support through the years.

On March 24, 2010, we hosted a sold-out event that recognized the long history of St. Mary’s Home and its role in the history of Norfolk and the Hampton Roads area. Our sponsors that evening were: presenting sponsor Monarch Bank, Campostella Builders, Sentara and Wells Fargo Advisors. In the founding years, St. Mary’s provided a home for children whose families were unable to care for them. Today, we care for up to 92 children who have multiple, severe disabilities.

Toward the end of 2010, the Board of Trustees, during Rick Knapp’s tenure as president, made a decision to launch St. Mary’s Home into the next phase of our mission: caring for adults. Now, in gratitude to Carl and Carole Anne Albero for their lead gift, and to all of our donors so far, we will open a wing in 2012 that will provide to adults a level of care exemplifying our mission to help all residents reach their full potential. The Embrace Campaign is well underway. We project that by the end of 2011, with the help of a dedicated team of trustees, campaign cabinet members and generous donors like you, we will reach the $3 million needed to complete the new wing. We hope you will find that you, too, can take part in this new phase of St. Mary’s mission.

In closing, thank you for a year of celebrations as we honored our past and more celebrations as we look ahead to the care of children and adults from across the Commonwealth of Virginia for years to come.

St. Mary’s Home: room to grow

The world was at war in December 1944 when what was then St. Mary’s Infant Home opened in a renovated century-old building to care for abandoned and orphaned children in Norfolk.

St. Mary’s has been growing and changing ever since. And we’re about to grow again.

In 2010, St. Mary’s Home for Disabled Children celebrated 65 years of caring for children – of cherishing each young person who comes here as an individual to be respected, listened to and loved.

For many years, nuns from the Roman Catholic religious order the Daughters of Wisdom managed the Home. Sister Mary June Morin, the last Daughter of Wisdom at St. Mary’s, retired in early 2011 after 51 years of service, but still comes to the Home regularly to volunteer and see the children.

By the 1950s, St. Mary’s had already begun to evolve by caring for children with disabilities. The next decade, St. Mary’s built and moved into a 50-bed nursing facility specializing in residential care for children with more severe intellectual disabilities at a time when there weren’t many such places.

By the 1980s, the Home had evolved into the place it is today: a private, nonprofit, nonsectarian organization that provides expert around-the-clock care for children with severe physical and intellectual disabilities.

In 2005, St. Mary’s current building opened near Sentara Leigh Hospital. Since moving to the new Home, the children have spent 25 percent fewer days out at the hospital. The excellent care and caring they receive at St. Mary’s is key, and the bright and beautiful building with more space and the latest systems contributes to that care.

Through the years, the number of children that St. Mary’s cares for has grown, from a dozen to as many as 92. The age limit has grown, too, from 6 years to 21. And now, after more than six decades of helping children, St. Mary’s is getting ready to help adults as well, with an expansion expected to open in 2012. Take a look through this report to learn more about that project and other happenings at St. Mary’s Home made possible through the generosity of donors like you.

What St. Mary’s offers

Children and young adults from across Virginia who have severe intellectual and physical disabilities live, play and go to school at St. Mary’s Home, a national leader in pediatric long-term care. We also can help children who need respite, or short-stay, care, perhaps because “Placing Colton at St. Mary’s was the hardest thing I’ve ever done in my entire life, but it was the best thing I could have ever done for him. He is now doing things that we never dreamed he would do.”

Roxane Ward, whose son lives at St. Mary’s Home of a family emergency or surgery requiring intensive post-operative physical therapy.

Nursing staff provide professional, 24-hour clinical care, and nearly 20 specialists from Children’s Hospital of the King’s Daughters and Eastern Virginia Medical School routinely come to the Home to see the children. The children have regular physical therapy, and occupational therapy staff fit the children for splints to keep their limbs in alignment and customize and maintain their wheelchairs and other equipment. The dietary service department prepares and delivers all meals based on physician-approved diets overseen by a registered dietician. Support coordinators meet with the children, parents or guardians and staff to make sure the children receive appropriate services based on their individual needs.

The children also enjoy many activities both at the Home and in the community, from swimming in the Home’s therapy pool to taking field trips to the beach, the library or a museum, supervised by the recreational therapy and activities staffs.

Learning and being loved

When Candace Duffoure looked at her son Jaime’s worksheet, she cried. Not because he had received a C but because this was the first time that Jaime had ever received grades in school. He’s 16.

To his mother, that grade was proof of something she had always known: He can learn.

Jaime came to St. Mary’s Home in 2010 for post-surgical rehabilitation. His family decided to keep him at St. Mary’s when they saw how much he was benefitting from life here, where he receives regular physical therapy and around-the-clock nursing care the Home provides.

St. Mary’s also makes sure that every child, no matter how medically fragile, attends school. If families prefer, their children go to classes at public schools in Norfolk and Virginia Beach. Many children, like Jaime, stay at St. Mary’s, which partners with Southeastern Cooperative Educational Programs to provide instruction by licensed, master’s-prepared educators.

Academic skills are a mandatory part of the state curriculum. SECEP also focuses on communication and functional life skills, such as helping the children learn to call for attention or make choices by pressing buttons on their wheelchair trays. The children continue to go to school, part time, during the summer to reinforce concepts and skills learned.

At St. Mary’s, Jaime is doing simple addition problems, when the only math he did before was simple counting. He also works on big long-term projects, such as creating a display of the solar system for SECEP’s science fair.

“Jaime’s learning to participate, to be part of something,” his mother said. “He’s learning patience, to take turns. Plus, he’s being loved to death.”

Six young adults graduated from St. Mary's Home, meaning they had turned 21 and were getting ready to move on to other places. The caregivers and teachers who knew the graduates the best shared a bit about them during the ceremony, reminiscing about planning birthday parties, decorating beds, sneaking special treats and watching the children grow into young adults. Keynote speaker Barbara Ciara, an anchor at WTKR NewsChannel 3, said it was obvious from hearing the stories that "you guys – you're not staff, you're family."

Greg and Amanda were voted king and queen at St. Mary's fifth annual prom, organized by the recreational therapy services department. Students from Norfolk Academy turned St. Mary's Atrium into a disco for the afternoon and served as dates for the young adults from the Home. "We have so much fun at our prom, we thought they should have that fun, too," said Carter McCabe, co-president of Norfolk Academy's St. Mary's Club. Special thanks go to St. Mary's Auxiliary Board for paying for tuxedo rentals, the DJ and flowers.

The Power Of Touch

A look back at some of what made the year 2010 special.

St. Mary's employees took up a collection and raised $1,705 to send to the Daughters of Wisdom to use for their Haiti relief efforts. Nuns from the Catholic religious order ran St. Mary's for many years. The amount raised included $450 from a Valentine's goodie sale/baked goods raffle organized by the Nurses Environmental Committee, which focuses on building camaraderie among the staff. Read more about the committee's work in a column by Mike Gruss of The Virginian-Pilot, at <http://bit.ly/mVY4Cw>.

Generous donors help children, young adults, receive quality care

The children and adults who live at St. Mary's Home qualify for Medicaid (or, for military families, the U.S. Armed Services Tri-Care program), while United Way, grants and individual and corporate donations also help cover the cost of care. Thank you to our many generous supporters, including some who especially stood out in 2010:

- Carl and Carole Anne Albergo, who made the lead gift to the adult home at St. Mary's.
- The Harborfront Garden Club, which won the Commonwealth Award from the Garden Clubs of Virginia and donated the $10,500 to St. Mary's to fund the hard surface for a courtyard and other updates to the landscaping.
- Sertoma, which donated $7,500 for a specialized ear, nose and throat microscope.
- Checkered Flag Volkswagen, which donated to St. Mary's Auxiliary Board a 2010 Volkswagen Final Edition Beetle

– valued at $21,000 – to raffle and raise funds for the Home.

- The Meade R. Welch, Sr. and Mary R. Welch Fund, which gave St. Mary's its first endowed gift of $200,000. Mary Welch decided to make the gift after visiting St. Mary's Home, said her daughter, Cissie Rapay. "My mother went to St. Mary's and fell in love with the kids, and she wanted to do something good. She was raised Catholic, so there was also that connection."
- The J. Carroll Fears, Jr. and Mary H. Fears Charitable Unitrust, which gave St. Mary's an estate gift. Ewing Best, who was adopted from St. Mary's, chose the Home as a recipient to show her gratitude.

The men's basketball team from the College of William & Mary visited with the children at St. Mary's Home on Sept. 22. Players and coaches took aim at an enlarged hoop in St. Mary's Atrium and helped the children take some shots as well. Watch a video of the event at <http://bit.ly/otpnnyo>.

The Rhythm Project gave a free public concert at St. Mary's Home in April. The acclaimed world percussion youth ensemble is the primary community program of the Virginia Arts Festival. After the concert, St. Mary's dedicated a number of recent additions to the Home, including a koi pond, library and our signature mermaid statue, "Embrace."

Carol McCormack, the new CEO and president of United Way of South Hampton Roads, toured the Home in August. St. Mary's is proud to be one of 70 partner agencies supported by UWSHR. United Way later recognized St. Mary's Home as the Agency Partner of the Year because of exceptional participation by St. Mary's employees in the United Way campaign.

More than 500 runners and walkers registered for St. Mary's 22nd annual 5K, plus One-Mile Fun Run, on Oct. 2, and more than 170 people signed up to volunteer, for the largest turnout in recent memory. The event, held for the first time in Norfolk's East Beach neighborhood, raised about $30,000. Portfolio Recovery Associates was the first-ever title sponsor for the race and their CEO, Steve Fredrickson, signed up to run. To register for the 23rd annual 5K, to be held Oct. 1, 2011, please contact Sonja Barisic, sbarisic@smhdc.org or (757) 352-2700, or see www.saintmaryshome.org.

On Feb. 11, St. Mary's celebrated the five-year anniversary of the move into our current, state-of-the-art building. Since moving to the new Home, the children have spent 25 percent fewer days out at the hospital.

Charity house helps brighten St. Mary’s Home

St. Mary’s Home was honored to have been chosen to benefit from the Charity House at the Tidewater Builders Association’s Fall 2010 Homearama. The showcase of homes took place Oct. 16-31 in Norfolk’s coastal East Beach community.

Scott Crumley, of Crumley Group, Inc., built the Charity House, dubbed “The St. Mary.” Crumley made a generous donation to St. Mary’s Home from the proceeds of the sale of the Charity House. The donation is being used to redecorate the children’s rooms according to the children’s needs and desires.

Proceeds from the sale of the house, plus contributions from the Homearama preview party and staffing of the house with volunteers – both of which St. Mary’s coordinated – generated $78,000 for St. Mary’s. The one-of-a-kind Charity House, a Mediterranean-style Dutch colonial home, was designed by Cox, Kliewer & Company. Professionals from the International Interior Design Association contributed the home’s interior design.

Kids helping kids

For the Crumleys of Virginia Beach, helping St. Mary’s Home for Disabled Children is a family affair, right down to the youngest member, Jenna. Last summer, 9-year-old Jenna Crumley watched her father, Scott, build the Homearama Charity House to benefit St. Mary’s Home, and her mother, Janette, also get very involved with the project.

And when Jenna took a tour of St. Mary’s and met two girls her same age, Jenny and Carrington, as well as other children, she was inspired to start the Kid2Kid program for children from St. Mary’s Home is grateful to have been chosen to be the charity partner for the Coastal Living 2011 Ultimate Beach House, with a portion of ticket proceeds benefitting the children and young adults of St. Mary’s. * Tickets to tour the home are available at the front desk at St. Mary’s Home; cash or check only, please. * For more information or to volunteer to help staff the Ultimate Beach House, contact Mary Helen Hilton, St. Mary’s director of annual giving, online at mhilton@smhdc.org or (757) 446-6793.

Hampton Roads to reach out to the children of St. Mary’s and grow public awareness about the Home. Jenna has introduced a number of her friends to the children of St. Mary’s Home; the group has grown to about 26 boys and girls. Kid2Kid is helping the children of St. Mary’s form new relationships and participate in more activities with other children in the community, from having a tea party to joining together for a “Chalk the Walk” event on Sept. 26, 2010, to decorating the school bus entrance at St. Mary’s. The children of Kid2Kid also have donated art supplies and party materials to the children of St. Mary’s and sold lemonade and crafts. One girl asked guests to bring donations to St. Mary’s instead of gifts to her birthday party. So far, Kid2Kid members have raised more than $2,300 for St. Mary’s, while making new friends.

Embracing a new option for adult care

Where do the children go after they turn 21? People often ask that when they learn that the residents of St. Mary’s must find other places, such as nursing homes, to live when they reach that age. Moving away from the comfortable environment and caring, expert staff they have known can be difficult for the young adults and their families. Now, St. Mary’s Home is expanding to provide them another option.

Since late 2010, generous supporters have contributed more than $2.3 million of the $3 million needed to build a wing to care for adults, including St. Mary’s own graduates. The expansion, designed by PF&A Design, will feature 12 private rooms and is expected to open in 2012. Carl and Carole Anne Albero made the lead gift. Carl Albero is a St. Mary’s trustee, founder of defense contracting company AMSEC and vice-chairman of the Board of Directors of Colonna’s Shipyard; Carole Anne Albero is a retired special education teacher, St. Mary’s volunteer and member of St. Mary’s Auxiliary Board.

Other major supporters include The Hampton Roads Community Foundation, St. Mary’s Auxiliary Board, Sentara Healthcare, Amerigroup Charitable Foundation, the Napolitano Family Foundation, TowneBank Foundation, Beazley Foundation, Douglas and Marianne Dickerson Foundation, Steve and Mara Frederickson, Chester F. Giermak, John and Joyce Fain, John “Dubby” and Susan Wynne, a number of St. Mary’s employees and all of St. Mary’s trustees and campaign cabinet members. The Cabell Foundation also issued a challenge grant to match $100,000 that St. Mary’s raises in new funds. St. Mary’s Embrace campaign also has raised more than $800,000, including gifts from the Mary Ludlow Home and the Meade R. Welch Sr. and Mary R. Welch Fund, toward a goal of $2 million for an endowment fund to protect against economic downturns. Thank you to everyone who has donated to the Embrace campaign. If you would like to make a gift or learn more about the project, please contact Martha Price Stewart, director of development, at mstewart@smhdc.org, (757) 446-6797 or (800) 237-6555, or visit www.saintmaryshome.org.

Auxiliary Board: Six decades of enhancing children’s lives

The Auxiliary Board, which celebrated its 60th anniversary in 2010, is a group of dedicated women who strive to fill needs St. Mary’s Home otherwise cannot meet. Formed in 1950 with 100 charter members, the Auxiliary continues to provide invaluable support. Items the Auxiliary funded in 2010 included scholarships for summer camp, riding lessons through the EQUI-KIDS therapeutic riding program, tuxedos and other expenses for prom, respiratory therapy vests, an adaptive toilet chair and four defibrillators.

In February 2010, the Auxiliary held its fifth annual “There’s No Place Like Home” auction and gala, at The Westin Hotel at Town Center in Virginia Beach. John Craig, vice president of Craig Technologies, touched the hearts of many in the audience when he spoke about his son, who spent five weeks at St. Mary’s Home.

“This Home and these people are incredible,” Craig said. “They gave us hope and comfort when we needed some, and friendship. They are still members of our family because of what they did for our son.”
